

Corona crisis: »Professional business coaches offer pro bono sessions«

Pro bono coaching for managers, self-employed and private citizens

The ongoing extraordinary crisis causes numerous challenges in various situations. That is why our members support with professional business coaching - pro bono and in the high quality to which we are committed.

Due to the corona pandemic crisis, members of the International Organization for Business Coaching (IOBC) and the DBVC e.V. (German Federal Association of Business Coaching (registered association)) have started a pro bono coaching campaign. Executives, managing directors, freelancers, self-employed and private citizens who feel challenged by the current crisis can take advantage of professional support with a free coaching session via phone or video conference.

More than 60 professional business coaches can be contacted via various channels and in German or English.

»Corona crisis: Professional business coaches offer pro bono sessions«

You are wondering...

- How do I deal with the current uncertainty?
- How do I organize myself and others in home office?
- How do I communicate with employees in times of crisis?
- How do I deal with fears of colleagues, employees, family members and of course my own fears?
- How do I deal with boredom and social distance?
- ...

Our coaches guide you in finding your own answers.

About Us

German Federal Association of Business Coaching (DBVC, registered association)

The DBVC is the leading association in all German speaking countries focusing on business coaching and leadership. Well-known executive coaching experts who have made their mark and who have paved the way for executive coaching in Germany are members of the DBVC. True to its leading role the DBVC is committed to respectability, quality standards and professionalism in executive coaching.

The DBVC is the only association which has adopted a “four-pillar-concept” and brings together experts from all relevant areas – from executive coaching, companies, the scientific world and from further education.

It is the objective to professionalize the field of executive coaching and to promote and develop executive coaching in practice, research and teaching and in further education.

The DBVC is also the initiator, founding member and cooperation partner of the International Organization for Business Coaching e.V. (IOBC).

Board: Dr. Christopher Rauen (1. Chairman), Camelia Reinert-Buss (2. Chairwoman), Christine Moscho, Ulrich Dehner

International Organization for Business Coaching e.V. (IOBC, registered association)
